How to smell good for your peers

Smelling bad is not a good way to make friends. Use these steps to make sure you always smell fresh.

- Tea tree oil
 - A spray bottle
 - Water
 - Deoderant
1. Fill the spray bottle halfway with lukewarm water.
 2. Squeeze 3 drops of tea tree oil into the spray bottle.
 3. Close the spray bottle and shake the contents for 10 seconds.
 4. Mist your underarms with the tea tree oil solution.
 5. Apply deoderant as usual.

You will smell super nice.

How to style your hair in a fashionable way

Using hair gel to style your hair is a surefire way to look good and attract new friends.

- Hair gel
 - A comb
1. Find the hair gel and comb under the bathroom sink upstairs.
 2. Unscrew the hair gel container's lid.
 3. Wet your hands and run them through your hair.
 4. Scoop quarter-sized dollop of gel from the container and slather through your hair.
Using too much hair gel will make your hair look greasy.
 5. Use the comb to style your hair in the direction you want.

Your hair is going to look super cool.

How to make friends in class

If you look good, smell good, and are feeling confident, now is the time to make friends in class.

- Good personal hygiene
 - A friendly disposition
 - A Facebook account
1. Arrive at your class at least 15 minutes early.
 2. Sit next to a classmate.
 Tip: If your classmates have headphones in, they probably don't want to be bothered.
 3. Introduce yourself by shaking hands and making direct eye contact.
 4. Make smalltalk about the class.
 5. Find your classmate on Facebook, and add him/her as a friend.

Congratulations! You have a new friend!
